Abstract

PlusExploration Company Limited had requisitioned to create a new company's website which out-of-date and not interesting. Therefore, he had hired the Orange Technology Solution Company Limited to develop the new website. The requirements are the new layout and the customer can update the content by self in the later. The Orange had assigned this project to me, the cooperative student, to design the new attractive layout and backend system for managing the website contents. This project I used the CMS program which developed by Orange. The work process consists of requirement gathering, analysis, design and implement. Before deliver to the customer, I had tested the whole system with advisor staff and customer. This system helps the customer can manage his website at any time and easier.
